Herty Honored In Home Town

Marker Unveiled on College Campus Pays Tribute to Chemist.

Dr. Charles H. Herty returned to his native city Thursday, January 25, to receive an expression of love and appreciation from the people of Milledgeville when they unveiled a bronze tablet marking the site of his birthplace.

This marker, which is backed by three pine trees, is a native granite boulder that was originally in the foundation of the old Herty home. On the bronze tablet is the following inscription: "Dr. Charles Holmes Herty was born on this spot Dec. 16, 1867. He has done more than any other person to make America chemically self-sufficient and to develop the natural resources of Georgia. This marker placed by friends of his native city, Jan. 25, 1934."

Mr. R. H. Wootten, a life long friend of Dr. Herty, presided at the unveiling ceremonies.

After the invocation by the Rev. A. G. Harris, the band of the Georgia Military College and the glee club of the Georgia State College for Women furnished music for the occasion.

Mrs. David Ferguson, who attended G. M. C. grammar school with the famous chemist, delivered the principal address to which Dr. Herty responded.

Misses Olive Cranston, Frances Joseph, and Olive Bruce, relatives of the chemist and students of G. S. C. W., unveiled the marker.

Art of Stage Make-up Demonstrated at Club

Miss Katherine Scott gave a very interesting talk on the art of stage make-up to the Dramatic Club, Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 in the Ennis Recreation Hall. Demonstrations of make-up for the typical blonde, brunette, old lady, and male types were given. After Miss Scott's talk she presented the club with a box of stage make-up.

A contest for the writing of one act plays, subject unlimited, is being sponsored by the club. Only the members of this group are eligible. All contributions must be in by the twenty-first of February.

The presentation of the balcony scene from Shakespeare's play, Romeo and Juliette, by the Dramatic Club Saturday night, January 20, in the auditorium, was enthusiastically received. Two interpretations of the scene were given, Shakespeare's version and the modern version. The cast was as follows: Shakespeare's interpretation: Romeo, Catherine Mallory; Juliette, Elizabeth Meadows; modern interpretation: Romeo, Edna Lattimore, Juliette, Gannette Lyons.

Haverty Delivers Interesting Lecture

Monday night an interesting lecture on Art in the Last Hundred Years was given in the auditorium by Mr. J. J. Haverty, prominent Atlanta business man who has been a connoisseur along this line for many years.

In his discussion, which was illustrated with slides from the Metropolitan Museum in New York, he showed the development of the phases of art during the past century.

Mr. Haverty came to Milledgeville under the auspices of Pi Gamma Mu, National Honorary Society, and while here he was the guest of Mr. R. W. Hatcher and Father McNamara.

The speaker makes a hobby of art and has many fine paintings in his private collection. He takes an outstanding part in the activities of the High Museum of Art in Atlanta and is a prominent layman in the Catholic Church, having recently been honored by the pope.

Dr. Wynn Lectures On Southern Literature

Dr. William T. Wynn spoke on some phases in Southern Literature over station WMAZ last Monday. The rest of the program, consisting of selections of old southern melodies, was in keeping with the main subject.

These programs are broadcasted every Monday from 2:45 to 3:15 from the Mac a station

Thaxton Announces Lyceum Numbers

Mr. O. A. Thaxton has announced the following lyceum numbers to be given here in the near future.

February 2, Mercer Glee Club, Mercer University, Macon.

February, (probably) Presbyterian College Glee Club, Presbyterian College, Clinton S. C.

February 8, Ruth St. Dennis, dancer.

March 15, Cameron Beck, personnel director of the New York Exchange.

In the early spring the Avon Players will present Shakespeare's "Othello," and the Macon Symphony Orchestra will give a concert some time in March.

Mercer Glee Club To Give Performance

Featured Members Will Be Benton, Thompson, Lawson, Goldwire, and Minter.

The Mercer University Glee Club will make its annual appearance here Friday night, February 2. There will be forty men in the club composing the chorus and orchestra.

This club has only made one tour this year, but has already been acclaimed as one of the best clubs Mercer has ever produced. It is supposed to be as good, or better, than the club that met with the favor of the students here last year.

A varied program consisting of several numbers by a chorus of about twenty-five voices, novelty skits, drama, vocal solos, piano solos, and "hot" music by a twenty piece orchestra will be presented here Friday night.

Some of the members of the club who will be remembered by the students here are: Bill Benton, orchestra director and trumpet player who is making his fourth appearance before a G. S. C. W. audience; Charlie Thompson, little boy who plays the piano in a big way, will make his second appearance here; Jimmie Lawson, popular tenor soloist, and radio entertainer, comes back for his fourth time; Mike Goldwire, president of the club, and John Minter, well known comedy team, will "cut the fool" for the fourth time on the G. S. C. W. stage.

The program is well balanced and promises to be one of the best, if not the best, glee clubs to appear here. The members of the club will arrive Friday afternoon and the show will begin at 8:30 o'clock that night.

Brother-in-Law of Miss Martin Appointed Judge

It will be of interest to those on the campus to learn that Judge James C. Davis, who was recently appointed Judge of the Stone Mountain Circuit, is a brother-in-law of Miss Lena Martin, of the chemistry faculty.

Pageant Will Be Feature Event

"This Man Roosevelt," Written by Dr. Johnson, to Be Followed by Dance.

The one-act pageant, written by Dr. Amanda Johnson, to be presented at G. S. C. W. tonight in celebration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's birthday will be one of the most outstanding presentations ever given here. The pageant will begin at 8 o'clock in the auditorium and will be followed by a dance in the gymnasiums and recreation hall.

The pageant That Man Roosevelt, will open with a tableau as seen on the posters distributed throughout Georgia to encourage such celebrations. Georgullen Walker will be the herald who unfolds the outstanding phases of the administration thus far. Members of the Roosevelt family will be portrayed by Dorothy Wilkenson as President Roosevelt; Frances Bone, Mrs. Roosevelt; Eljith Allen, Mrs. Curtis Dohl.

The first scene will be a drama of the spirits led by old Man Depression, Frances Dixon, who calls on his evils to prey upon the American Public, Esther Baron. The spirits steal the children of the Public, and Prosperity and the American Public are saved when the angel of Mercy once more appears to bring light and safety.

The second scene will portray the inauguration of Roosevelt.

The status of G. S. C. W. under the bank holiday will be a humorous scene that will have as characters in it Mr. L. S. Fowler and Mrs. Ethel Beaman.

Next will be shown the weekly press conference granted by Mrs. Roosevelt.

Scene five will be a dance illustrating the NRA, CCC, and A. A. A.

Mrs. Wootten Talks At Y Cabinet

At the regular meeting of Y cabinet last Tuesday, January 23, Mrs. Stuart Wootten gave an unusually stimulating talk on the general theme, World Change. "As you know," said Mrs. Wootten, "the world is undergoing a radical change, and you as college students must learn to think quickly and clearly in order to keep pace with the times."

She stressed the necessity of our realizing that the world we knew when we entered college is vastly different from the one we shall step into on graduating. As examples of some of the recent trends, she pointed out several of the outstanding developments of the Roosevelt administration. Those cabinet members present were delighted with the talk, which was instructive as well as entertaining.

Once someone jokingly said, "I don't like to go on duty, but after all, it gives me a chance to serve others." Do you make it a chance to be courteous and obliging? Many do not. With a grudge they accept the responsibility of waiting on their table. They throw the dishes on the table rudely and try to shirk each bit of work.

It would make mealtime more pleasant if each girl assumed a gracious manner and did her duty smilingly and not with an air of disdain. It requires no more effort to be polite while on duty than it does to be rude and to complain about everything. It is just as easy to put the silver on the table in the proper way as to throw it on, each piece clattering against the other.

At college it is necessary to develop a spirit of helpfulness and cooperation, and being on duty gives an excellent opportunity for developing these traits.

Roosevelt's Birthday

The idea of celebrating Roosevelt's birthday all over the country by affairs to raise funds for his pet hobby, the Warin Springs Foundation, has been met with enthusiasm by the American public, who agree that it is in keeping with the character of the man himself to celebrate his birthday not in a spirit of personal glorification but as a means of contributing to the alleviation of human suffering.

It is a regrettable fact, however, that the suggestion is being interpreted by some as an effort to enhance the blind faith of the people in their leader and to increase the president's popularity and political prestige.
Unfortunately, the nation-wide celebration does seem to accomplish a double purpose.

Nevertheless, since the American public has seen fit to co-operate wholeheartedly with the project, since those responsible for the local observation have worked hard on the program, and since the cause for which contribution is asked is undoubtedly worthwhile, it behooves us to enter into the spirit, and to give as liberally as possible.

An English Grammar of 1800

An English Grammar by Lindley Murray, published in England in 1800, is in the possession of Dr. William T. Wynn. The purpose of this book was for the "instruction of the young," and it also has an appendix, "for assisting the more advanced students to write with perspicuity and accuracy."

Some of the definitions and explanations
are as follows:

"A vowel is a simple articulate sound, formed by the impulse of the voice, and by opening the mouth in a peculiar manner."

"Spelling is the art of rightly dividing words into their syllables; or of expressing a word by its proper letters."

"A verb is a word which signifies to be, to do, or to suffer."

A substance or noun is the name of anything that exists, or of which we have any notion."

"Interjections are words thrown in between the parts of a sentence, to express the passions or emotions of the speaker."

The author closes with a moral lesson for those who have studied and derived benefits from the book. "If then, the cultivation of letters, and an advance in knowledge, be found to strengthen and enlarge your minds—may it eventually serve to increase the rewards which the Supreme Being has promised to our faithful exertions, for the promotion of truth and goodness among men." But to those haughty souls who allow their knowledge to divert and corrupt their minds he says, "It would have been better for you, to have remained illiterate and unassuming; to have been confined to the humblest walks of life;
and have even been hewers of wood and drawers of water all your days."

Common Sense in Student Government

Little things so often obstruct our view that we allow big things to escape us. This is the main thing we wish to prevent happening to the students in their working out of Student Government.

Do not make mountains out of mole-hills.
Your fellow student is just as human as you are; make allowances for this. You have enough intelligence to recognize what is right and what is really wrong. Everyone is endowed with his share of common sense; use it!

Herty Day

The celebration of "Herty Day" here last Thursday was a gracious gesture by the people of Milledgeville to express their love and admiration for Dr. Charles Herty, a native of Milledgeville. The erection of the marker on the spot where he was born is an evidence of their great faith in the success of his project.

Although as yet the people of Georgia, whom Dr. Herty has been laboring for years to help, have felt no great benefits from the experimentation in Savannah, reports of the work and fore-runner trails of the paper indicate that within a relatively short time the process will be perfected, the economic machinery set in order, and the Georgia farmer
a much more prosperous man.

The fruits of the experiments are not yet being widely enjoyed, it is true, but success seems assured, and the people of Milledgeville have ample foundation for the confidence in Dr. Herty's work which they have so positively and fittingly expressed.

Keyhole Tidbits

The past week has been an eventful one in many respects. Various and sundry things have been happening. With our eyes at the keyhole, we have observed the following:

Study-hall keepers in Bell Annex complaining that the girls in their floor must have learned to whisper at a sawmill.

Juliette Burrus—with characteristic freshman veridancy—trying to figure out how to straddle a mud-puddle with a wheelbarrow.

Miss Candler telling her tennis class that the back hand stroke was exactly like the forehand except it was just the opposite.

Some public nuisance going around in the pouring rain last Thursday trying to convince everyone she came in contact with that "it was raining, therefore it was not raining."

You know, we've been doing some deep thinking, and we've about come to the conclusion that this campus would be a funny place if:

We didn't have fish and potato salad on Friday nights.

If one of our professors was asked to read the Bible in chapel, instead of placing it in the hands of the masculine members of the faculty every day.

And by the way, did you know that Vespers had been changed to every Thursday night now?

Some chemistry major was telling us that the only thing permanent in the world was change. Really, it seems that change is rather elusive around our neighborhood right now—particularly nickels and dimes.

Oh, well, life on the campus is just a struggle-buggy—without the buggy!

Florida seems to be coming back. A man who bought some property down there several years ago has been notified that land has been discovered on it.

Smile—As busy as a female centipede crossing her legs.

Headline—"Shirtwaists Going to Parties."

What is this world coming to?
Page Mr. Webster! Utopia is a place where you park your car and find it in the same place two years later.

Isn't it funny that all the fatal shootings occur from unloaded guns?

Headline—"In God We Trust" While the Money Foruin Opens. Praise Allah, there's at least one person whom we can trust.

We cannot understand why these "perfect marriages" are the only ones that fail.
When you find yourself in a pickle, console yourself. There are fifty-seven varieties, and yours might be worse.

Headline—Governor Rolph (Calif.) to Visit Nudist Colony. What is worrying us is what will he do about the flower he usually wears in his coat lapel?

It seems lying does pay at times. A White Plains, N. Y., girl has just been released because she has told so many different stories of killing her school chum that the authorities do not know which one to believe! Wonder why she didn't enter the National Lying Contest?

Announcement—Miss Sand To Wed Mr.
Storms. Here's hoping they will be happy!
Coming Attractions—"No" More Ladies.
What an attraction!

Headline—Mile, Coroner Suffer From
Good Intentions. We've seen quite a few people suffer also, especially if they are taken at their word.

Scoops

Here's a letter that a certain sophomore wrote—as a form letter—to a lady in Macon to tell her, well, you'll get that later.
(Perhaps this is opportunity knocking for the sophomores again!)

My dear Mrs. _____
We are expecting some hotcha entertainment. You know the kind we crave.

If you are not going to be at home, just leave it open and the larder full. Don't stay home on our account.

Your loving friends,
That is an actual letter that I ran across. By way of explanation, I don't believe the girls sent the letter. Aw!

I believe the entire student body would have been disappointed if we hadn't sung Love Divine in chapel last Tuesday—and particularly Jane Cassels. And the seniors didn't fall us with In The Garden. And yet someone said that "variety was the spice of life."

Ask any member of the Glee Club how she enjoyed the singing Thursday afternoon. By the way, I lost a shoe in the mud.
If any of you find one—please take it to the staff room—
Rain, ruin—go away.
Come again another day
Cause:
My hair's been set,
And needs to dry;
I'll catch a cold;
That is why.

Comp'ny stays away
When the sun does, too;
And I WANT COMP'NY.
Come skies of blue!

Ruth Vinson goes to Auburn this week-end for the dances, and next week-end—as far as I know now
—the only ones going to the Tech Pan-Hellenics are Jean Ver-dier and Elizabeth Pollard. Wonder if two or three busloads all make the trip to Atlanta next week-end like they did when Tech played Georgia?

Dudy Dixon's all pepped up this week—over a letter. Kat Evans is all pepped up cause she's gonna spend Sunday at home. The Seniors are all pepped up over the Mercer and P. C. Glee Clubs coming next week. Edwina Perry's all pepped up over summer. I hope Irene Farren is, too, in a different way! And the school's all pepped up over the pageant and ball next Tuesday night!

Boy, that ball isn't gonna lack a thing. Even gonna have hostesses and refreshments!

Well, I was all pepped up, too—but everyone but me got some mail—so now I'm not at all.
Happy Days!

Edna Lattimore Takes Game Consequences

"Truth is stranger than fiction," so some great mind discovered, and it may also be somewhat more painful.

Sunday night Edna Lattimore, sage frosh from Savannah, trekked timidly into Ennis parlor looking very much like Edna Lattimore in a state of embarrassment. Two dates were present.

The intruder writhed painfully and requested that the two young men give her their autographs.
Having met with many a peculiar situation, the dates complied with her wishes thinking that their fingerprints might be taken next.

It was discovered that Edna was indulging in a game of Truth and Consequences and rather than tell some secret of her existence, she took the consequences.

Miss Anderson And Miss Smith Attend Alumnae Meeting

Miss Mary Lee Anderson, presi-

Miss Louise Smith, first vice president, and Miss Katherine Weaver, treasurer, attended a meeting of the third district of the Ameri-

burg, Virginia, during the weekend.

Among those present will be delegates from Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama, meeting for the purpose of discussing plans for the forth coming year's work. G. S. C. W. with its 23,000 alumnae, has no secretary in this organization, the work being undertaken for the past six or seven years by its president.

Why cannot she, with so many alumnae, have a secretary in this large association to do the necessary work? It would certainly help bring G. S. C. W. up before the eyes of the nation, as a member of this national association.

G. S. C. Students Are Not Contemplating Marriage

Strange as it may seem, the girls of G. S. C. do not wish to "love, honor, and obey." At least there are other things in life which they desire more.

At a meeting of the G. S. C. E.
Sunday afternoon, the leader of the group asked the girls what they wanted in life. Among the many answers which she received were: health, education, religion, and success; but to her consternation, not a single girl expressed a desire for one of the opposite sex —and marriage.

Students In Practice Home Entertain

The girls in the practice home had as their dinner guests Saturday evening Miss Ruth Stone and Miss Ethel Helseth. After dinner the party went to the show to see Paul Muni in "The World Changes."

At dinner Sunday Dr. Frank Binford was the honor guest. During the afternoon the following girls were entertained at a delightful tea: Misses Beady Beals, Amelia Burrus, Martha McGav-
ock, Evie Turner, Eulalie Mc-

Ouija Board In Mansion Gains More Popularity

Mansion's Ouija board has proved to be a great success in its effort to gain for popularity, even if the salt shaker is a handy implement in the pseudo-scientist's tricks of fortune. Some prefer their Ouija predictions straight, but a little salt tends to lessen the disappointment when no golden ship with platinum keel sails up the street.

The freshmen are especially enthusiastic over the apparatus.
They say, "Oh, of course we don't believe it, but it's so much fun."
Then, with shining eyes, they proceed in turn to relate the sweet nothing: the Ouija spells and how true they are to each freshie's nature. Then all the upperclassmen heave a heavy sigh and think of the man who denounced superstition in one step and refused to walk under a ladder in the next.

Nevertheless, the Ouija is busy from morn till eve retaining its hard-earned popularity. Nobody thinks of its deep intellect being impaired by over-activity, and no code considers its planchette.

Members Of Club Entertain Roommates

Members of the Griffin club entertained their roommates at a bridge party in the tea room
Saturday afternoon.

After the games refreshments consisting of ice-cream and ginger ale were served.

Members of the club include Mildred Watson, Marion Har-
born, Allione Wright, Marion Hills, Martha Ann Moore, Dorothy
Maddox, Annie Scott Gunter, Katherine Digby, Frances Cowan, Margaret Tucker, Miss Josephine Pritchett, and Miss Katherine Weaver.

The guests were Dorothy Kompon, Mary Angley, Bobbie Windy

At Other Colleges

All students at St. John's school of Delafield, Wisconsin are compelled to take dancing to give them courage.

If this keeps up, our suspicion that the "stronger" sex is getting weaker will be confirmed. What's happened to the old muscle taxer, Tiddly Winks?

The Hullabaloo Quotes, "The stag at eve had drunk his fill" (poor fill) "and" interprets the aforesaid journal, "thereafter was of no possible use in the stag line."

Tulane's lawyers admit the inability of mankind to resist flattery, flirtation, and foolishness in "Saps and Suckers" which is a satire on the fickleness of women.

The title is peculiarly appropriate for this season of the year.

More evidence that the "Stronger Sex" is degenerating. At Michigan State College the men outnumber the women in the cooking classes.

On second thought, maybe it's just self-preservation.

Co-eds at the U. of Missouri signed a pledge not to eat more than 15c worth of food when they were out on dates. It has been a boon to popularity. Who says curves are in? When pledges are made to preserve sylphicity we must dispute with the authorities. Maybe there's another motive.

The Rio Grande Cardinal digs up some old gags from the files and they look right new down in our territory.

She: Would you like to take a nice long walk?

He: Why, I'd love to.

She: Well, don't let me detain you.

More and of a taller level.

Prof. Davis: Cecil, what is the highest form of animal life?

Cecil: The giraffe.

We are very unhappy at this point. Dr. Menut, a speaker at Syracuse U., says there are no gentlemen in the universities. Like the checkered vest of yore, gentlemen are extinct. It's all very sad; and now let us begin a search for fossil remains.

Educators at Wisconsin believe that soon we shall have courses in matrimony which will include studies of scientific procedure in keeping one's strong arm fascinated into hen-pecked submission.

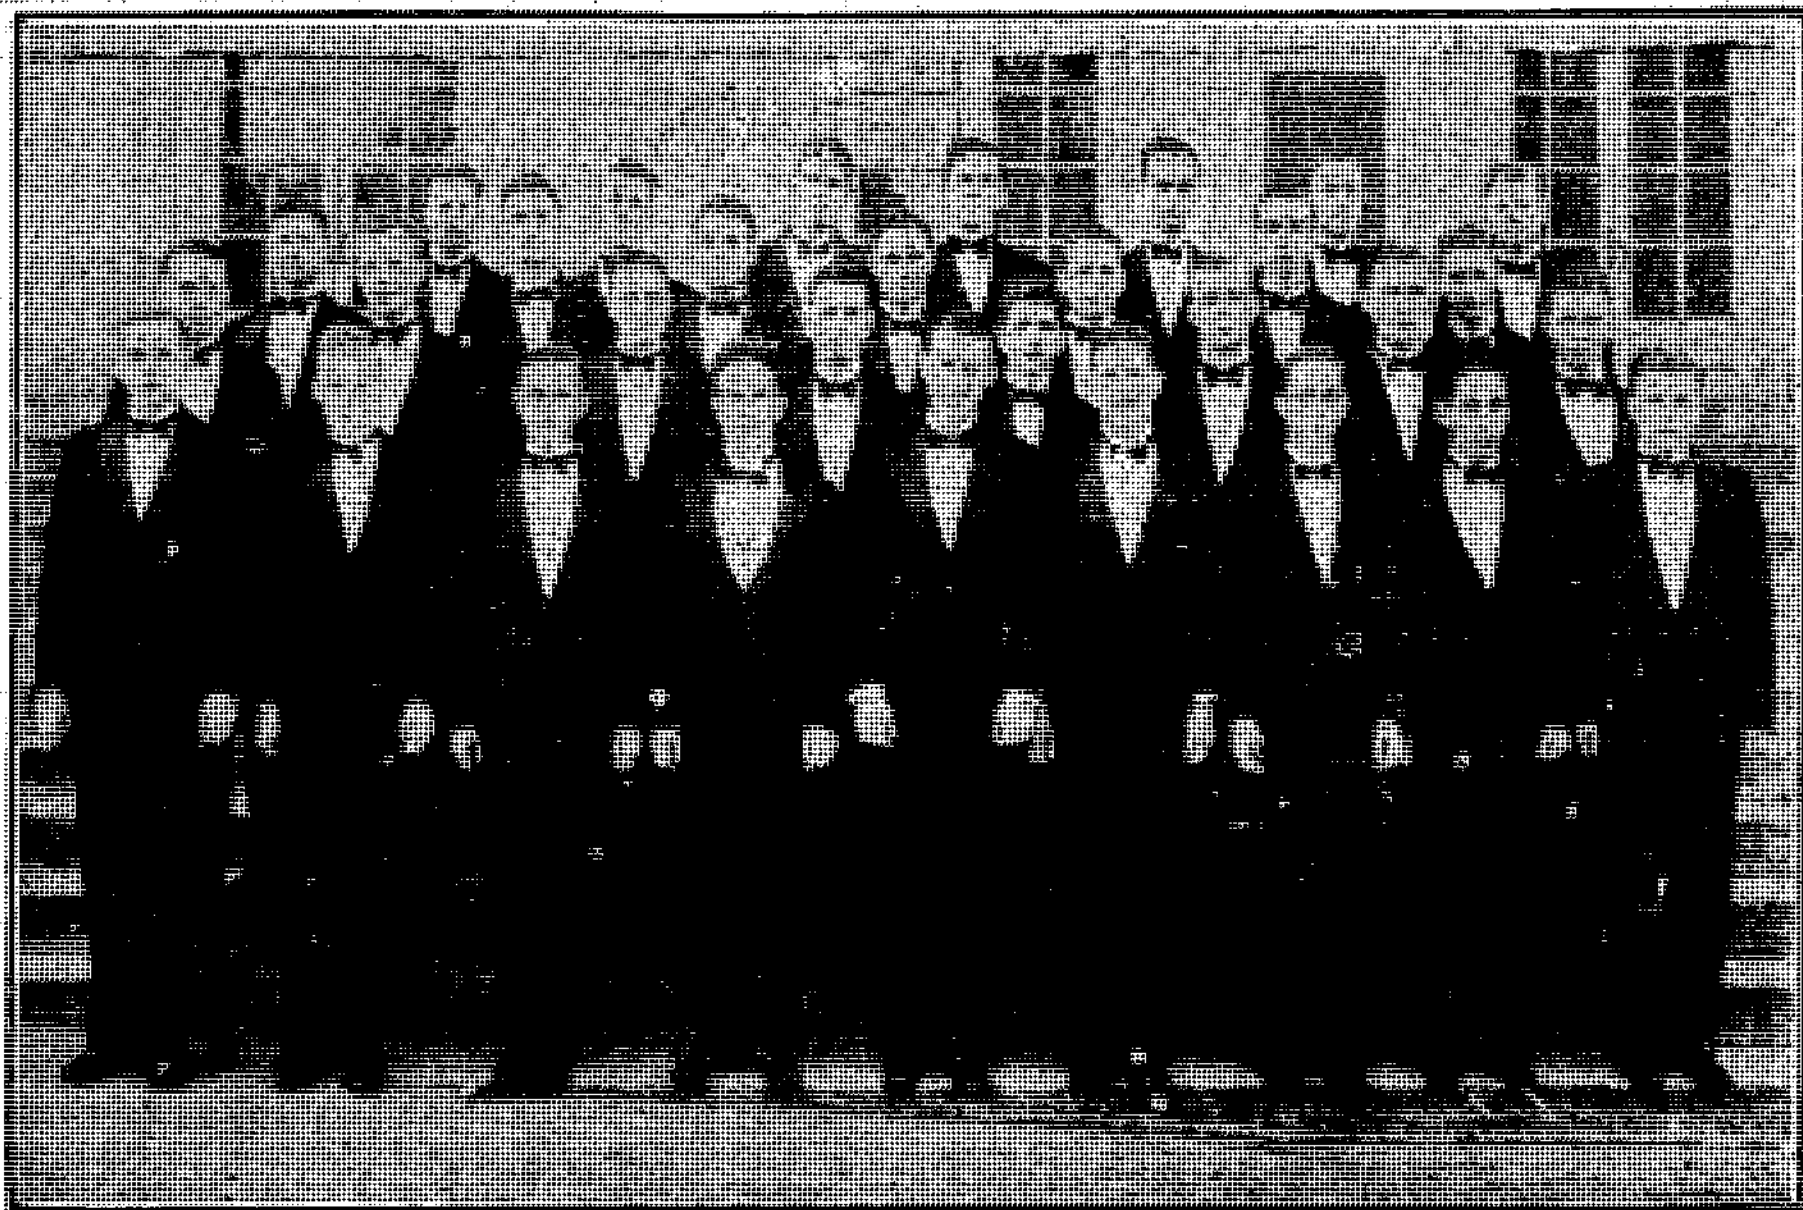

A course in hypnotism would go along very well.

Faculty Members At Atlanta Meeting

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Beeson, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Scott, Dr. William T. Wynn, Dr. George Harris Webber and Mr. L. S. Fowler attended a meeting of the Association of Georgia Colleges in Atlanta during the week-end.

One of the speakers was Dr. Ben D. Wood, head of the co-operative test service of the American Council of Education and member of the faculty at Columbia University, who gave a scholarly interpretation of the recent tendencies regarding units, credits, and hours of work.

In the closing session Dean L. L. Hendren, of the University of Georgia, was named president. Other officers selected were Dean John B. Clark, of Mercer, vice-president, and Dr. W. D. Hooper, of the University of Georgia, secretary and treasurer.

Literature—2.
(Hebrew, Greek, and Roman survey; or French, German, Italian, and Spanish survey; or English).

Military Science or Physical Education—1.

Science Survey—2.
(The science survey not pursued in the freshman year).

Electives:
Selections from elective group—4.

Total pupil load—10.

The variables and electives are to be chosen from the following fields:

"Agriculture, Commercial Studies, Economics, Education, English, Fine Arts, Foreign Languages, Geography, History, Home Economics, Journalism, Laboratory Sciences, Landscape Architecture, Mathematics, Music, Philosophy, Psychology, Physical Education, Social Studies 5 (Continuation of Social Studies 4.)"

All the colleges in the system will be allowed to use the electives to meet the needs of their student groups.

Full details of the plans for G. S. C. W. will be announced by the Executive Committee in a short while.

That happy days are here again will be shown in the next scene with a ball at the White House. The Roosevelts and their party will dance, and two dancers will perform for them.

For the final scene the Roosevelts come to their home in Warm Springs for Thanksgiving. Polons and Phisons are gathered around for singing and the talents of a magician, Dr. George Harris Webber.

The costumes are being made under the supervision of the matrons. Nothing is being overlooked to make the event a success for the benefit of the Warm Springs Foundation. Admission to the pageant and dance will be a voluntary contribution.

Chemistry Club Has Program On Color

The Chemistry Club met last Saturday night in the biology lecture room. Anna Everett gave a talk on color and Sara Robertson discussed an article from the Science News Letter, Recovery from Anesthesia by Acid Injection. This was followed by an open discussion of current science news.

The following chairmen were elected: publicity department, Althea Smith; social committee, Agnes Smith; membership committee, Rosalie Sutton; other chairmen are to be appointed by the president later.

Junior Gives Advice

close to our row. I couldn't stretch out my legs just right. I squirmed and twisted this way and that trying to get comfortable. It was an impossibility. Just when my attention would be attracted by an especially dramatic scene, what the head matron would do and say if someone did report me would crowd out all other thoughts. My favorite actor and still my attention refused to be held.

"To cap it all, we had to leave before the picture was over to get to supper on time.

"My lucky star must have been shining that day because I didn't get reported. I stayed on pins and needles, figuratively speaking, for the next few days, however, expecting to be called to the office any minute. I think that was punishment enough. Phew!

"Never will I forget those two hours. Take my advice, freshmen and sophomores; it just isn't worth it."

Ruth English Honored

Miss Ruth English was honored with a surprise birthday feast last Sunday evening. Those attending were her very intimate friends: Misses English, Nancy Sales, Katie Israil, and Mildred Harvey.

Librarian Learns Identity Of Anthony Adverse

Can it be possible that one of the students assistants in the library at G. S. C. is not acquainted with the popular novel by Hervey Allen?

One of our ambitious young freshmen inquired at the desk for this one thousand, two hundred, twenty-four page novel in the following words: "Is Anthony Adverse in?" The librarian gazed at the freshman in an inquiring manner. She hesitated for a few minutes trying to recall if there could be a professor or a gentleman visitor on the campus by this name.

Finally, after the freshman had explained that Anthony Adverse is the name of a book and not a member of the opposite sex, light dawned upon the assistant's face, and she answered, "No, I'm sorry, but Anthony Adverse is not in."

Work In Extension Department Increases

The work of the extension department of G. S. W. this year is expanding so rapidly that it is fast becoming one of the largest units in the whole system.

Its scope extends so far west as New Mexico, as far south as Florida, and as far north as Washington. There are students in every section of Georgia and many parts of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

Announcement Made Concerning Weekends

An announcement concerning week-end visits was made in chapel Tuesday. Students may have, each quarter, one week-end leaving Friday after classes and returning before classes on Monday; also one week-end leaving after last class on Saturday and returning before first class Monday.

The privilege of spending one Sunday at home or with near relatives, and one shopping day each quarter, remains the same as for last quarter.

The Globe Trotters

See and Say

Well, all we know is what we read in the papers, and magazines, and in the library, and what we hear people talking about! And maybe we don't know all about that! But we do know several things; we do know that the world extends further than the city limits, and the further you go, the more fascinating it gets! We know that Russo-Japanese affairs, Cuba, the Fascist, the goldstandard, and Congress is the most delightful jumble, and trying to put it together would make the cleverest little puzzle you ever picked up actually boring! We laughed when they said that, too, but it's the truth. If you read one paragraph about Hitler's Germany, before you can stop, it will have become a habit.

Now for instance, did you know that at present, Soviet Russia and fiery little Japan are watching the scales with a hawk's eye? They are both talking peace and fearing war. Which reminds us of something that we read in the paper once, "A small nation and a large nation can live side by side peacefully, if the small nation hasn't anything the large nation wants."

Did you know that twenty states have ratified the child labor amendment?

Did you know that 75 per cent of all tax money goes for war, either past or future?

Did you know that you've got a lot to learn?

Well, we'll leave you around the globe until next week.

Abyssinia,

So long!
